Dear Dr. Dorfman:

I am pleased to inform you that your manuscript (JRME-3539.R2) entitled “Music Teachers’ Experiences in One-to-One Computing Environments” is accepted for publication in the Journal of Research in Music Education. Thank you for your responsiveness to the reviewers’ comments.

Below you will find a few notes from me to help you prepare for eventual publication. Do not use the online system when you complete any of these minor edits or revisions. Instead, send the revised manuscript as a Word document to me at jrme@uw.edu. Please return this at your convenience, but no later than December 8, 2015.

The article most likely will appear in the July or October 2016 issue, although dates are always subject to change. Several months before the scheduled month of publication you may receive additional edits and/or suggestions from me to which I will ask you to respond. After that, you will receive edits and page proofs to review from Sage Publications. To keep to our publication schedule, we will ask you to return these all by the deadlines given, which will be about a week after receipt.

Sage will publish all papers that they have finished editing and formatting in OnlineFirst, a system for publishing completed articles online prior to their inclusion in a print issue. Each OnlineFirst manuscript is considered a publication, and is citable by the publication date of the manuscript's first online posting and the Digital Object Identifier (DOI). This provides a persistent, permanent way to identify manuscripts published in this online environment.

You will shortly be receiving a link to the Contributor Form that will allow you to give your copyright consent online. Please respond to that without delay.

We do not provide article reprints, but authors are allowed to photocopy articles for their own teaching or research purposes (see Contributor Form, “Contributors’ Rights”). If you do reference, present or distribute your paper before it is published, please cite it as “in press,” or when it is available via OnlineFirst, use that DOI.

Thank you for this excellent contribution to the research literature.

Yours,
Steven Morrison

EDITOR NOTES

1) Among the files you return, please send a cover page that includes:
-- contact information (postal and email address) for the corresponding author
-- complete title and institution for each author
-- a bio for each author, using the template below
Author Bio Template: So A. So is [title] at [Employer]. [His/her] research interests [are, include, are related to] [a few key words and/or phrases].

Sample: Quincy A. Wagstaff is associate professor of music education at Huxley College. His research interests include temporal synchrony among invertebrates and children’s music preference.

2) If applicable, you may now replace any redacted identifying information.

3) It appears that you have attended to this already, but please check that DOIs/persistent URLs are included in the reference list wherever they are available. Also note that the issue numbers should be included in parentheses only if the journal begins paginating each issue with page 1 (so, for example, references for JRME articles would not include these – see APA p. 186).
